Residence permit for a tax residence in Dubai Free Zone

The new rules for issuing residence permits and obtaining tax residence certificates from the UAE authorities, for foreign owners and executives of a free trade zone entity in Dubai.

We already know that a free trade zone (FTZ) entity in UAE offers many business (and tax) possibilities.

A further possibility available to a FTZ is to issue residence permits and obtain tax residence certificates from the UAE authorities for its foreign owners and executives. A FTZ company, must have physical presence in the UAE and, in that respect, it must own or hire premises. If only a small office is required as the company will be used by its foreign owners mainly for residency purposes the most cost effective options are available by free zones in the northern emirates, notably Hamriyah and Ajman free zones. Physical presence options include "flexi desks" or "flexi offices".

Furthermore, and if a local bank account is maintained with some movements, the foreign owners and executives can apply to the Ministry of Finance to receive UAE tax residence certificates.
